Photoshop is an image-editing program that is available on both Windows and Macintosh computers. You must pay extra for Adobe's digital imaging add-on for PC users. Be sure to check the box to select the add-on for installation, not the stand-alone Adobe ImageReady. You'll know it's the right one because it says "Adobe Photoshop CS5 — Photoshop CS5 Windows," in place of your current operating system. # Editing a Face in Photoshop Face-editing techniques have been around since long before Photoshop was born, and many of the major Photoshop features (such as layers) have a long lineage. In fact, it took the success of Illustrator to spawn other editors that are more creative than Illustrator, such as Photoshop. So one might assume that Photoshop is the best editor to use for face editing, and you'd be right. The following steps take you through the procedure of editing a photo of a person's face. ## Understanding the Process Adobe Photoshop CS5 is a fully fledged image-editing package (not just a photo-editing program). The reason is that it enables you to create a realistic image of just about anything. The steps in this section take you through all the major editing stages of a face. Because you can't change a face in any other way than one that is dictated by Photoshop's editing techniques, use the steps in this section as a guide, following each step through from beginning to end. When you're ready to start a new image, use File⇒New.

What Happens if I Don't Pay my One Time Filing Fees? I filled out my paperwork in April and was told my filing fees were due in August. I called the day before my deadline to see if there was any possible way I could make it work. There are two options available to you if you fail to pay your federal filing fees by the deadline. The first one, which I will call the "off the hook" option, is to ask your tax preparer to extend the deadline by filing an extension form. The second option, which I will call the "compromise" option, is to pay the fees now and keep the money. I don't like either option. The "off the hook" option is a waste of my time. I don't want to have to pay more money so that I don't have to follow a proper filing process. The "compromise" option, on the other hand, is not only a waste of time but also violates all of my ethical, moral, and legal principles. Yes, I agree with you. Doing anything unethical is a violation of my personal ethics. It is a waste of my time and an opportunity to teach my clients a valuable lesson. Unfortunately, I was given no choice. The IRS is very specific when it comes to the deadlines for filing. A tax preparer cannot extend the deadline. The preparer also cannot accept a late filing. I would have preferred to pay the $300 now and then have the tax preparer complete my filing. If I needed any additional forms, I would have scheduled a meeting with my preparer to go over and review my work. I had no choice but to do one of two things. The first option was to pay the tax preparer to file the extension. The second option was to pay the tax preparer to do nothing. Both of these options are a violation of my principles and morals. With that being said, I won't be doing any one of these options. The taxes weren't important enough for me to risk my time and money. I want to thank you for taking the time to read this article. If you would like to learn more about the options available to you, you can check out the link to the IRS.gov page right here: What Happ
